Welcome!

Dear Customer,

Welcome to our new style catalogue! Many people have commented over the years on how our monthly listings can be a little bland and uninspiring, so we have long been wanting to make improvements. We now find ourselves in the position to be able to achieve this and hope you like the result. Please rest assured that no content has been 'watered-down' as a consequence of these changes! All information that would have been present previously continues to be so, but hopefully in a clearer, easier-to-read format. Feedback will be welcomed if you have any comments, either positive or (constructively) negative…

New releases to highlight this month include new discs from Alison Balsom (a trumpet and piano recital) and The John Wilson Orchestra (Gershwin) on Warner Classics, the first instalment in a Mozart Violin Sonata series from Alina Ibragimova on Hyperion, beautifully presented and performed G&S in the form of HMS Pinafore from Scottish Opera and Richard Egarr (Linn), the second volume of British Violin Sonatas from Tasmin Little (Chandos), and the final disc in Gergiev's series of Scriabin Symphonies with the LSO (LSO Live).

Not quite so many boxsets this month as we might usually see, but our picks include the latest 'Decca Sound' compilation featuring 55 CDs of Great Vocal Recitals*, the 2015* Lugano Festival highlights from Martha Argerich and Friends (Warner), and two titles from Sony Classical: 'Great Moments at Carnegie Hall' including performances from Richter, Bernstein, Horowitz, Menuhin, Rostropovich and many more (43 CDs) and the complete Columbia album recitals from legendary mezzo Frederica von Stade (17 CDs).

Our special offers for May include the complete catalogues of Signum*,* Melodiya*,* Ricercar*,* Arcana*,* Ediciones Singulares (beautifully produced book CDs), SDG and Arthaus DVD*. Rumon Gamba and the BBC National Orchestra of Wales present the second volume in their exploration of rarely heard overtures from the British Isles.

Introducing these neglected works, the conductor explains: 'All the overtures on this disc belong to the period between 1890 and 1945. In this present selection, however, we see perhaps even more clearly the evolution of musical style, and in particular the use of harmony, in the armoury of the British composer.'

He adds: 'Rather by accident it seems that we have a nautical theme running through the disc ('Rule, Britannia!' makes an appearance in two of the overtures!), perhaps the most familiar work being Walton's Portsmouth Point. I was surprised to find out that there are relatively few recordings of this little masterpiece. Likewise I was amazed to learn that the BBC National Orchestra of Wales had not played the piece for many years. So it made a perfect maritime choice alongside Britannia, The Boatswain's Mate, Plymouth Hoe, and Tom Bowlin.'

LSO Live

Valery Gergiev and the London Symphony Orchestra bring to a close their revelatory Scriabin cycle with the release of Symphonies 1 & 2. Scriabin's highly original First Symphony was composed at the turn of the 20th century and consists of six movements, the last of which features a chorus and two vocal soloists (sung here by mezzo Ekaterina Sergeeva, tenor Alexander Timchenko and the London Symphony Chorus). Premiered two years later, the Second Symphony contains echoes of Strauss, Tchaikovsky and Wagner, alongside Scriabin's own deeply personal sound. While relatively more restrained in style than his other symphonic output, over the course of its five movements there are sweeping climaxes, swirling colours and passages of majestic intensity. Highly recommended.

This 40CD set contains a wealth of 19th century piano concertos written by composers who for some reason or other have been neglected by history, so called 'minor masters' who may have lost the battle against the giants but nevertheless wrote very attractive, impressive and brilliant concertos for the piano. Includes works by Hummel, Field, Czerny, Cramer, Ries, Clementi, Thalberg, Moscheles, Litolff, Kalkbrenner, Medtner, Henselt and many more.

Coro

The fourth volume in this highly acclaimed series, conducted by The Sixteen's Associate Conductor, Eamonn Dougan, explores the music of Italian composers working in the Polish court during the reign of Sigismund III Vasa. In 1594 Sigismund III set about reorganising his music ensemble and he decided to bring in Italian musicians, singularly esteemed at that time, and, in particular, musicians associated with the music chapels of Rome. Amongst them were Luca Marenzio, Asprillo Pacelli, and Vincenzo Bertolusi; their arrival heralded a new dawn for sacred music in Poland.

Alfred de Vigny's Cinq-Mars*, published in 1826, is regarded as the first great historical novel in French. The action is set in the C17: the Marquis de Cinq-Mars gains the esteem of King Louis XIII by organising a movement of opposition to Cardinal Richelieu. But manipulations, betrayals and plots force the monarch to abandon his champion and allow Richelieu to triumph and condemn Cinq-Mars and his friend De Thou to death. It was at the request of the director of the Opera-Comique Leon Carvalho, attracted by the idea of a muscial setting of the novel, that Gounod agreed to return to the forefront of the operatic scene in 1877, after an absence of ten years. He produced a work that renounces none of the musical charms of* Romeo et Juliette or Faust*, but tends very clearly in the direction of historical grand opera.*

Philharmonia Rec

The finished original version of Symphony no.8 in 1887 was not understood in its boldness by Bruckner's contemporaries, therefore the criticism of his friends determined him to revise the piece. However, Fabio Luisi is persuaded by the perfection of the original version which he recorded in the studio with the Philharmonia Zürich and thinks that the musical forces of this symphony are especially expressed in this version.
